

Americans have lost an average of $4,200+ in annual income since Biden took office

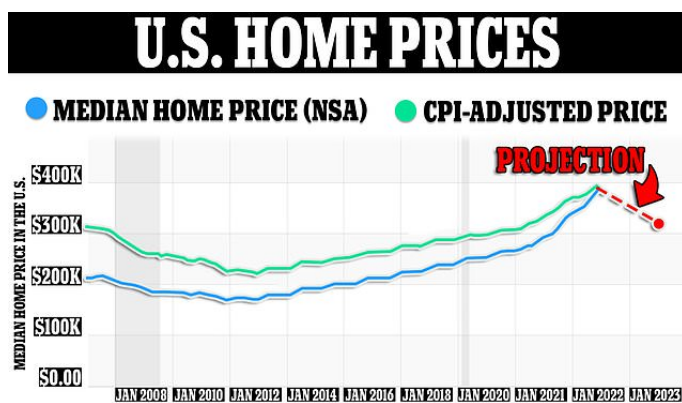

Fri, 23 Sep 2022 14:06:49, newstips66, [post_tag: 200-in-annual-income-since-biden-took-office, category: afghanistan, post_tag: americans-have-lost-an-average-of-4, category: brotopia, category: community-service-programs, category: elon-musk, category: energy-dept-slush-fund, category: facebook-meta, category: google-alphabet, category: hired-assassins, category: housing, category: idea-theft, category: lithium-batteries, category: netflix, category: news-manipulation, category: patents-and-inventions, category: political-bribes, category: repairing_silicon_valley, category: san_francisco_corruption, category: senator-insider-trading, category: silicon_valley_death, category: sony_pictures, category: stanford_univ_bribes, category: tesla_motors_lies_and_defects, category: web-spying, category: worldnews]

Americans have lost an average of \$4,200 in annual income since Biden took office: Study lays bare how gains under Trump have been wiped out - while crippling inflation has sent prices surging

The average American has lost $4,200 in income due to soaring inflation and rising interest rates

US housing market bloodbath: Prices will collapse by up to 20% because sector is already in recession - sparked by Bidenflation - and it will soon spread to rest of the economy, expert warns

Record-high housing prices in the US could collapse by up to 20 percent over the next year if a recession takes hold, a top Wall Street economist has warned. Ian Shepherdson, a chief economist at Pantheon Macroeconomics, pointed out that home prices have already declined by about five percent from their peak in May and will continue to tumble. According to his previous work, there are now 40 percent more single-family homes available than four months ago - and previously occupied home sales have slowed for the seventh month straight. Prices for homes sank by 0.7 percent in August, but Shepherdson predicts a total decline of up to 20 percent by the middle of 2023. He warned that the plunging trend in sales 'has further to go' and that prices are falling as the US enters the fourth quarter of 2022.

A school 'protecting' a teacher's right to wear massive XXX-rated fake boobs in class isn't about trans rights - it's final proof we are paralyzed by insane political correctness

Just like the classic folktale, The Emperor's New Clothes, everyone that gazes upon this Ontario teacher knows that something is deeply wrong with her presentation, but they don't say anything about it. And in a sign of the times, this fairytale is rated triple-X. This is not about gender rights or tolerance or transgenderism. Of course, adults are free to express their sexuality in a way of their choosing. This is about political correctness and the overwhelming fear of offending going so far beyond anything resembling reason that absolutely anything and everything is now accepted, no matter how bizarre it is, or in this case, harmful to children's education