

Facebook Censors Conservative For Making Historical Reference in Campaign Ad

Her family survived a communist genocide. Facebook was not impressed.

By Haley Kennington

Facebook rejected a video for a conservative running for Congress in California because they claimed a video that was paid for by the candidate were “too shocking” for their platform.

Fresno native, Elizabeth Heng is running for California’s 16th Congressional District and will face Democratic congressman Jim Costa in the general election in November.