"Celebrity posts on social media saying they could might eventually allegedly do something" is not news

Like most govt subsidized companies, the sky is the limit, but in terms of product offerings, they bilk until the purse is dry. Remember, Tesla sales collapsed in countries where all subsidies were removed.

Hyperloop is a stunt. They managed to convince the government of Minas Gerais, Brazil to help "funding" this bullshit. And will probably convince more. Elon is a big player when it comes to acquiring public cash.

They will be using the nuclear powered boring device. Melts rocks into tunnels. Look it up, the patent was issued in the 70's
